Classification Procedures:

The Kansas Board of Regents governs tuition classification. Determining classification is a complex process which can require extensive documentation. Please read the application carefully. Be certain to answer all questions and to attach all requested documentation (see Documentation section). Failure to complete the application properly can delay a decision in your case, result in an inaccurate decision and may invalidate your application. In reviewing the application, the Office of the University Registrar considers the individual situation as presented on the application and assesses it in relation to the Board of Regents articles. The burden of proof, as represented in documentation attached to the application, lies upon the student. This burden includes provision of convincing evidence of intent to remain in Kansas indefinitely after attendance at the University of Kansas. A decision will generally be reached within 14 business days after an application has been submitted. The student will be notified via email when a decision has been reached.

I have read and understand the classification procedures:

An appeal form will be provided with the denial notification. The committee is made up of 3-5 staff and faculty members of the University who meet periodically to review outstanding appeals. The Committee follows Kansas Board of Regents residency regulations. Appeal dates can be determined by contacting the Office of the University Registrar and appeals should be submitted to the Office of the University Registrar in the KU Visitor Center at 1502 Iowa St, Lawrence, KS 66045. The Committee meeting is an open public meeting and the student who submits an appeal to the committee will be notified of the time and date of the appeals meeting. The decision reached by the Residence Appeals committee is the final determination made by the University of Kansas. If the appeal is denied, the student has 30 days from the date the denial letter is sent to file an appeal with District Court.
